UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA SAN FRANCISCO DIVISION

SUSAN Y. SOONG NORTHERN DISTRICT COURT

Plaintiff,  V.  Defendant(s).  Defendant(s).  Defendant(s).  AND WAIVER UNDER FRCP 5.1  Defendant(s).  AND WAIVER UNDER FRCP 5.1  Defendant(s).  Trial Act from  Avant 7,304 to Avant 6 and finds that the ends of justice served by the continuance outweight the best interest of the public and the defendant in a speedy trial. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(A). The court makes this finding and bases this continuance on the following factor(s):  Failure to grant a continuance would be likely to result in a miscarriage of justice.  See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(i).  The case is so unusual or so complex, due to [check applicable reasons] the number of defendants, the nature of the prosecution, or the existence of novel questions of fact or law, that it is unreasonable to expect adequate preparation for pretrial proceedings or the trial itself within the time limits established by this section. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(ii).  Failure to grant a continuance would deny the defendant reasonable time to obtain counsel, taking into account the exercise of due diligence. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(iv).  Failure to grant a continuance would unreasonably deny the defendant continuity of counsel, given For the reasons stated by the parties on the record on Aigus 7,3014, the court excludes time under the Speedy Trial Act from Aigus 7,3014 to Aigus 16,3014 and finds that the ends of justice served by the continuance outweigh the best interest of the public and the defendant in a speedy trial. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(A). The court makes this finding and bases this continuance on the following factor(s):  Failure to grant a continuance would be likely to result in a miscarriage of justice. For the reasons stated by the parties on the record on Algust 7.3014, the court excludes time under the Speedy Trial Act from Algust 7.3014 to Algust 1.3014 to
For the reasons stated by the parties on the record on August 7,3014, the court excludes time under the Speedy Trial Act from August 7,3014 to August 12,3014 and finds that the ends of justice served by the continuance outweigh the best interest of the public and the defendant in a speedy trial. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(A). The court makes this finding and bases this continuance on the following factor(s):  Failure to grant a continuance would be likely to result in a miscarriage of justice.  See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(i).  The case is so unusual or so complex, due to [check applicable reasons] the number of defendants, the nature of the prosecution, or the existence of novel questions of fact or law, that it is unreasonable to expect adequate preparation for pretrial proceedings or the trial itself within the time limits established by this section. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(ii).  Failure to grant a continuance would deny the defendant reasonable time to obtain counsel, taking into account the exercise of due diligence. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(iv).

defendants, the nature of the prosecution, or the existence of novel questions of lact or law, that it is unreasonable to expect adequate preparation for pretrial proceedings or the trial itself within the time limits established by this section. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(ii).  Failure to grant a continuance would deny the defendant reasonable time to obtain counsel, taking into account the exercise of due diligence. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(iv).
taking into account the exercise of due diligence. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(f)(7)(B)(fV).
Failure to grant a continuance would unreasonably deny the defendant continuity of counsel, given counsel's other scheduled case commitments, taking into account the exercise of due difference. See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(iv).
Failure to grant a continuance would unreasonably deny the defendant the reasonable time necessary for effective preparation, taking into account the exercise of due diligence.  See 18 U.S.C. § 3161(h)(7)(B)(iv).
With the consent of the defendant, and taking into account the public interest in the prompt disposition of criminal cases, the court sets the preliminary hearing to the date set forth in the first paragraph and — based on the parties' showing of good cause — finds good cause for extending the time limits for a preliminary hearing under Federal Rule of Criminal Procedure 5.1 and for extending the 30-day time period for an indictment under the Speedy Trial Act (based on the exclusions set forth above). See Fed. R. Crim. P. 5.1; 18 U.S.C. § 3161(b).
IT IS SO ORDERED.
